Thanksgiving Proclamation.

By the President of the United States of America-A Pr

Almighty God for the mercies and abundance of the year which is drawing to a close.

The blessings of free government continue to vouchsafed to us; the earth has responded to to the labor of the husbandman; the land has been free from pestilence; internal order is being maintained and peace with other powers has prevailed. It is fitting that, at stated prelods, we chould cease from our accustomed pursuits and from the turmoil of our daily lives, and mite in thankfulness for the blessings of the past and in the cultivation of kindly feelings toward each other. Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do re places of worship on Thrsday, the 26th day of November ber next and express their thanks for the mercy and favor of Almighty God, and laying aside all politica contentions and all secular occupations, to observe such

The Elections.

The recent elections throughout the country have resulted in overwhelming successes for the Democrats. The Republican party, which has enjoyed uninterrupted ascendancy since 1860, has met with a signal repulse, -a disaster, if such it is, which it must in large measure attribute to itself. During its long career and amid the exer- the same feeling, kept alive at the election. The hardly to be wondered at that abuses Townships: have crept in, and that disaffection and discontent has arisen. And therefore it is not strange that Republicans themselves should enter at the ballot box that protest which they could deliver in no other way so effectively, albeit they have evinced in some cases remarkable lack of discrimination in transferring their ballots; nevertheless the general result should be philosophically regarded as salut ury if not satisfactory. The party, and particularly the unscrupulous portion of its leaders, have been chastised for their sins and errors. Righteous punishment turned out a very successful affair, the rather than crushing defeat has overtaken principal feature of the evening being some them. But a party which can exhibit so very excellently rendered readings by Miss glorious a record of achievement in the Hattie Condit of Orange, entitled, "The Oswego Midland Railroad has issued an orpast may yet have something to accomplish Face Against the Pane" and "Auction Ex- der under which all freight bound eastward in the future, if it shall wisely profit by the traordinary." Rev. Mr. Berry pastor of lessons of the day. Touching upon these the church read a piece entitled "Wedding New-Jersey Midland as heretofore. The reathings, the N. Y. Mail, an independent Re- Wine." At the close of the sociable a compublican journal, says:

"As for the Democrats, they are as badly off as the man who won the elephant at the raffle. Their victory is too large to be easily handled. What will they do with it? What will it bring? They will have the next House and the next Speaker, and can make a vigorous running fight against the Administration, but they can't pass a Bill, or repeal an Act, against the will of the Senate or of the President. They will undoubtedly do what the Republican House did for Buchanan's Administration-"investigate," and accumulate campaign documents for 1876. But, having the majority in the House, they will have to eituer "fish or cut bait," on the question of finance and reconstruction. The Times says: It would be useless to dwell on these obvious lessons except in the hope that they will be thoughtfully pondered at Washington and elsewhere. If the greatest party ever known in this country is to be saved from utter destruction two years hence, and if it is not pass from history disgraced as well as defeated, the leaders and managers must make a thorough change in their policy. It would be still wiser to change many of the leaders themselves. Fortunately, the people have disposed of Butler, as they would have swept away some other ber: prominent persons, in both House and Senate, if their votes could have been brought to bear directly upon them. There is yet time to prevent a still more crushing blow in 1876, but to dothat will tax the combined efforts of the best minds in the Republican

The Election in New Jersey.

Judge Bedle is elected Governor of New Jersey over Mr. Halsey by a majority of about 12,000. Of the Congressmen, the Democrats elected four-Teese, Hamilton, Ross and Hardenburgh, while the Republicans elect three-Sinnickson, Dobbins and Phelps. The next Senate will be Republican by the same majority as last year-14 to 7, and the House will be Democratic by 39 to 21, a net Democratic gain of 11 members. The Democratic majority on joint ballot will be 11, securing to the Democrats a U. S. Senator to succeed Mr. Stockton (Dem.), and the appointment of the State Treasurer and State Prison Keeper for the ensuing

In Essex County the Democrats elect all their county officers with the exception o Geo. D. G. Moore, whose popularity in both parties secures his re-election as Surrogate. Of the Assemblymen, the Republicans elect Messrs. Teed, Morrow and Kirk-the Democrats Messrs. Dodd, Henry, Kinnard, Fitzgerald, Doyle, and Carrolton.

In Bloomfield and Montclair townships the election occasioned but little excitement. Both the Republicans and Democrats worked hard, but it was found to be impossible to bring out the full vote, although the day was unusually fine. In Bloomfield 832 votes were polled, and there was considerable scratching of objectionable candidates. Some Bloomfield Republicans who had been loud in criticism of the delegates sent to represent the party at the late Assembly Convention at Montclair because they (the delegates,) allowed a preference for their chosen candidate to exhibit itself in the shape of a refusal to make the nomination of Mr. Teed unanimous, maintain that the small majority given for Mr. Teed is owing to cise of its great power and influence, it is following is a canvass of the votes cast in the two

The church was well filled, the presence of so large an audience being the best recognition Berkeley Sunday School has ever had from its friends. The entertainment consisted of music, rendered by young ladies and children connected with the school, together with poetic tableaux. The members of the Sunday School were assisted in their entertainment by several children from a Newark Sunday sic by Miss Nellie Peloubet, of our own town. A Miss Duy also contributed a fine applause bestowed in every part of the programme.
